

KRISTEN SEABURN

Executive Assistant/Parent

I will advocate for your children, serving their needs as led by family values and interests as priority above all others. I stand for quality and transparent curriculum and instruction that will improve outcomes within the Westside schools, closing the academic achievement gaps to ensure the future success of our students.

As a parent of two children within the Westside community, one of which currently receives special education services in the NMUSD, I have the understanding and skills to positively affect change with our district. Just as I have learned to be a strong advocate for my own children, I will advocate for yours.

Professionally, I have acquired skills as guided directly by an elected county official to secure fiscal responsibility within the district. Your tax dollars should be spent carefully and thoughtfully on "back to basics" learning - not politically influenced propaganda - so our students are learning the fundamental abilities they need to succeed as responsible citizens. Students deserve quality and evidence-based education with mindful assurance to expenditures.

It would be an honor to be the voice of our community - to advocate for parents' and students' rights, curriculum transparency, and fiscal responsibility.
